

Getting to Saarbrücken from Frankfurt Main Airport

The website of the Airport is this: www.frankfurt-airport.com

1) Getting to Saarbrücken by train

Frankfurt Main is one of the biggest German airports and has many good connections. To get to Saarbrücken, it is recommended to take a train, which you can catch directly in the airport.

From your terminal (usually Terminal 1), you can proceed to the train station for regional trains ("Regionalbahnhof"). Should you arrive in Terminal 2, there is a free Sky Train and also a free shuttle bus that will take you to the Terminal 1, where you will find the regional train station.

There is a direct connection with a regional train which runs to Saarbrücken every hour. The travel time is about 2hrs 35min.

The train schedule can be seen online: www.bahn.de

Tickets can also be bought online, at a ticket machine or the ticket office right at the platform.

2) Getting to Saarbrücken by bus

A second option are the long distance buses, which have become a good alternative to travelling by train. There is a direct bus between Frankfurt Airport, Terminal 2 and Saarbrücken:

The travel time is about 2hrs 50min and the tickets are only about 10€. The train can be found at Terminal two, at the bus station ("Busbahnhof"). Simply look for the sign of the bus company. Tickets have to be bought online.

3) Getting to Saarbrücken by car

Finally, Frankfurt Main Airport also has a variety of rental car services, which are often opened 24 hours per day. You can take the car from this airport and then give it back in Saarbrücken at the train station. If you are travelling with several people, this might be a way to save some money: Getting a rental car at Frankfurt Airport

4) Hotels

If you get stuck at the airport, for example if your plane arrives very late and there are no more connections, you can spend the night at the airport. A list of hotels can be found on the website of the Airport: Hotels at Frankfurt airport
